Welsh-White Clash at Colorado Springs Labor Day Will Be Big Drawing Card.

Colorado Springs, Aug. 20.—The importance, in the eyes of the fight world, of the Freddie Welsh-White clash for the world's lightweight championship crown, on Labor day afternoon, Sept. 4, at Colorado Springs, was forcibly brought home yesterday by a wire which Welsh received from "Pomerny" Bob Vernon, the famous eastern sporting man and stakeholder. Vernon, who was stakeholder in the Welsh-Ritchie contest, in London, two years ago, and who also held the big stakes in the thrilling battle that saw Jess Willard wrest the heavyweight laurels from Jack

Johnson, is a great Welsh "booster," and would travel around the world to see Freddie in action. Here is the wire he sent:
"Freddie Welsh, world's lightweight champion, Colorado Springs, Colo.
"Am arranging special car de luxe to battleground from New York. Have already booked twenty, including Hon. John Kelly, Billy Connolly, John Madden, Jim Gaffney, Tom Foley and six members of Tennis and Racquet club. We have combined and invited the following newspaper men to be our guests: Bob Ederer, Tad, Ruben Goldberg, Bert Igoo, Bud Fisher, Walter St. Denis Ripley, Fred Kestis and Bill McGeehan. BOB VERNON"
It is doubtful if such a crowd as this journeyed to Reno to see the Jeffries-Johnson contest, and certainly no such enthusiastic body of sportsmen went to Havana to give Willard and Johnson the up and down. The Welsh-White match is rapidly standing itself as the highest sporting event that has ever been staged, east or west, and the arena at Colorado Springs, big as it is, is hardly going to be big enough to hold the crowd.
Both Welsh and White will from now on be on the battle ground. Both have engaged collages; both say they have the best cooks in Colorado; both are chock full of confidence, "pep" and earnestness.
Freddie Welsh's feat of weighing in, under the personal supervision of the commissioner of weights and measures of Denver, at 129 1/2 pounds, is an awful blow for those critics who have been casting him as a welter weight. Welsh will, of course, build up again now, and, needless to say, hit the weight limit of 135 pounds at 9 o'clock on the morning of the bout, without turning a hair.

BULGARIANS ARE GAINING GROUND

Offensive of Central Powers on the Saloniki Front Is Making Headway.

Saloniki, Thursday, Aug. 17, via London, Aug. 20, 4 p. m.—(Delayed).—The Greek military authorities have agreed to withdraw their troops from eighteen villages near the frontier.

London, Aug. 20.—A great new campaign is rapidly developing in the Balkans, and the unfolding battle finds seven nations meeting in the clash of arms. Promises of activity confined in troop movements and brushes of minor forces within the last two weeks are now being translated into a general offensive by the Bulgarians, assisted by their allies, Germany, Austria and Turkey.

On four fronts, the Bulgarians are launching attacks against the entente armies—British, French and Serbian—and tonight report the capture of two villages as well as the seizure of an important series of heights.

On official dispatch received by the French war office from the commander in chief at Saloniki, General Serrail, admits the Bulgarians have occupied two Greek forts. Bulgarian attacks along the entire allied front are reported, with the main operations proceeding as a four-pronged offensive in the regions of Lake Prespa, Ostrovo, Dolran and Sere.

Aided by Turks. More than 100 miles to the eastward the Bulgarians, aided, it is reported, by the Turks, are striking at the entente force which landed during the winter in the district of Kavala on the Aegean sea. This movement, undertaken to protect their flank, already has resulted, according to an official admission by the French, in a crossing of the Nestos river. The forces engaged, it is stated, were small.

Information reaching here tonight from many sources, indicates that the Bulgarians are determined upon a serious effort to capture Saloniki, the allied base and "drive the allies into the sea." Their most advanced front is within about forty miles of Saloniki.

That is it the intention of Bulgaria to launch a general attack against the entente armies on Greek soil is the information conveyed to Premier Zaimis of Greece by the Bulgarian minister at Athens, M. Passaloff, according to a Central News dispatch from the Greek capital.

What Bulgaria Expects. Another dispatch, received by way of Copenhagen, quotes the official Bulgarian newspaper as saying that Bulgaria expects the same treatment at the hands of Greece as that accorded the entente.

"Our troops must fight on Greek soil, taking the offensive now, in order to forestall Serrail," the newspaper adds.
Bulgarian troops have occupied considerable sections of Greek territory for months without serious protest from Athens, and the opinion is expressed that Greece has a secret agreement with Germany whereby the invasion will be tolerated in return for the Greek occupation of southern Albania, the annexation of which was announced at Athens some months ago.

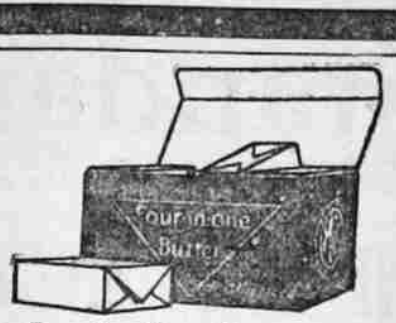

In order to allay fear among the Greek populace, however, Premier Radosloff dispatch from Sofia to have advised the sobriety, the Bulgarian advance is being made in order to insure better positions and a stronger line. He expressed the government's hope that it would not cause fresh complications.

TWIN FALLS DEPOT

WILL BE ENLARGED
Twin Falls, Ida., Aug. 20.—Mate-fal and working crews were assembled here today by the Oregon Short Line preparatory to beginning work Monday on the new freight depot. Part of the present structure will be used in the new building, which is 400 feet long. Two hundred feet of new track will be laid. The present building is wholly inadequate for handling the vast increase of tonnage.

WEAKENING OF GERMAN LINES

French Writer Claims Wearing Down Process in Full Swing on All Fronts.

(By C. F. BERTELLI.)
Paris, Aug. 20.—The first importance of the allies' general offensive not generally noticed by the public, is the fact that the Germans are unable to maneuver, and that the most they can do is to endeavor to delay and halt the allies' gradual progress.

Like men caught in a clinch unable to launch on their fists, the central empires are not allowed a breathing space to concentrate for a mass maneuver which alone allows an initiative. The allies' staff authorities point out to their theories based on Napoleon's maxim, "My own defense is a beaten enemy," and also contrary to their fetish authority, Clausewitz, who taught that "the best means to stay off attacks is to attack elsewhere," which they manifestly are unable to do.

Think Germans Bluffing. At Verdun, where the Germans attempted to put on the soft pedal, the French have put on the fortissimo pedal and have kept the initiative in all attacks since the end of June. The whole question is how long the central empire are capable of bearing the strain without snapping. Their developed railway communications allow them to overpass their losses and average their forces on all fronts, thus delaying disaster.

On the Somme, at Verdun, at Saloniki, on the Italian and on the Russian theaters the various headquarters direct and judge the operations immediately before them, but Joffe's staff views the whole situation as a battle, because the greatest results are not achieved on the spot of the action, nor are these results immediate.

Somme Battle Unparalleled.

Out of 122 divisions on the western front the Germans have some twenty on the Somme and an equal number at Verdun, leaving but eighty-two divisions for the remainder of the 550 miles of western frontage, which averages one man per meter as minimum defense, allowing nothing for emergencies.

When officers of the allies' staff headquarters say, "The battle is progressing satisfactorily," this means that the total figures are affected satisfactorily for the allies.
The fighting on the Somme continues with the unparalleled fierceness of "Verdun standard," according to eye witnesses of fighting on both fronts. Human life is undergoing approach one another the landscape disappears in a volcano. The whole region is wrapped in a cloud of red green and yellow fumes from high explosives and stench and tear shells.

THIRTEEN KILLED IN TEXAS STORM

Corpus Christi, Tex., Aug. 20.—The loss of life from the tropical storm which struck Corpus Christi and ten adjacent south Texas counties on Friday night, was placed at thirteen tonight, including nine members of the crew of the small freighter Pilot Boy, which foundered off the Aransas pass jetties. Two Mexicans and one Mexican woman were killed at Katherine, a settlement on the King ranch near Alice, Tex., and one Mexican was reported killed at San Diego. Both towns are from fifty to sixty miles inland.

The total damage in this section, of which Corpus Christi bore the heaviest part, was estimated at $2,000,000. This includes devastation of a large portion of the lower coast's cotton crop which was ready to be picked. Damage at Corpus Christi was estimated conservatively at $500,000. Other losses were: Aransas pass, $150,000; Rockport, $75,000; Alice, $100,000; San Diego, $50,000; Robstown, $50,000; Bishop, $150,000; Kingsville, $100,000. Towns in the Rio Grande valley $200,000, and other widely separated and isolated points $500,000.

The storm area is that 150 miles of lower gulf coast from Corpus Christi to Brownsville, reaching inland from thirty to fifty miles.
Alice is in Jim Wells county, between Corpus Christi and Laredo, and is about thirty miles from King's ranch, reputed to be one of the largest ranches in the world.

To strike Alice the storm would sweep the vast area of this ranch, which is said, by upwards of 500 Mexican cowboys and their families. The fate of these people is unknown.

The storm apparently already has spent its force over southwestern Texas, where comparatively little damage was done. It struck this city late Friday afternoon and raged until about midnight, the maximum velocity being about eighty miles, leaving the bay front a mass of wreckage.

Chapparral street, the principal thoroughfare of Corpus Christi, was strewn with wreckage from craft in the bay and ripped off roofs and buildings. Plate glass windows were shattered throughout the city, and wires and awnings were piled in tangled heaps. Virtually every business building was more or less damaged.

Houses on the north beach were torn from their foundations and piled in heaps, while larger residences on the bay front bluff were caved in and otherwise damaged.
Approaches to the big causeway were washed out and railroad trestles torn away, leaving the rails suspended over the water.

Hundreds of homeless citizens spent Friday night in the city hall, courthouse and hotels, all of which were in complete darkness owing to the failure of the power plant. Communication with the outside world was cut off early Friday evening and only partly restored Sunday morning.

When dawn broke Saturday morning work of cleaning away the debris began and continued throughout Sunday.
C. A. Bates of Dallas, general manager in Texas for the Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone company, arrived at Corpus Christi today from Rockport, where he was visiting when the storm struck there. He says the damage there was heavy, but no loss of life was reported.

Aransas pass, Mr. Bates stated, probably suffered most severely from the storm.
Meager reports from St. Joseph Island indicated that practically everything on the island with the exception of the lighthouse had been washed away and the place was under three to four feet of water.

CATHOLICS HOLD BIG CELEBRATION

New York, Aug. 21.—Business sessions of the American Federation of Catholic Societies and allied organizations began here today with nearly 20,000 delegates attending. "Catholic week" with a series of meetings and ceremonies, which are to continue to include Friday, was inaugurated yesterday with a pontifical high mass in St. Patrick's cathedral, attended by three cardinals and the apostolic delegates, as well as most of the delegates to the federation.

The opening session of the federation today was devoted in part to hearing the reports of the national president, John Whalen, and of the national secretary, Anthony Matre. An address was delivered by the Rev. M. J. Lavelle, rector of St. Paul's Catholic cathedral.
Sessions of the Catholic Young Men's National Union, the Catholic Women's Union and the State League of Catholic Societies were held today.

New York, Aug. 20.—Three princes of the Roman Catholic church, the papal delegate to the United States, the papal nuncio to Brazil, scores of bishops and other dignitaries, several hundred priests and thousands of laymen participated here today in the celebration of a solemn pontifical high mass at St. Patrick's cathedral. The occasion was the formal opening of the fifteenth annual convention of the American Federation of Catholic Societies and the sixty-first annual convention of the National Federation of German Catholics.

Seldom in the history of the church has there been so notable a gathering of ecclesiastics outside of Rome. It was estimated that more than 8,000 persons crowded into the cathedral, while twice as many more congregated outside to view the procession which preceded the mass.

Message From Vatican.
At the opening of the ceremonies Monsignor Michael J. Lavelle, rector of the cathedral, read a message from Cardinal Gasparri, papal secretary of state, in which he said:

"The holy father will watch with a loving and paternal eye the Federation of Catholic Societies of the United States holding its annual convention in New York. He sends earnest wishes that their friendly discussions shall accomplish much for the welfare and honor of the Catholic name in your favored land. And, while hoping for the most, activity and wisdom, he grants most heartily the apostolic benediction to the federation and to all who take part in it."

COAL CAR RUNS OVER MAN AND KILLS HIM

Kemmerer, Wyo., Aug. 20.—A stranger, whose only known name was "Mickey," was instantly killed yesterday evening at Eubank when a coal car ran over him as he lay intoxicated upon the track. The accident occurred near the mine tipples and was discovered a few minutes after it occurred. The car ran over the man's head. He had evidently laid down in the shade of the coal car and, being much under the influence of liquor, had fallen asleep upon the track.
"Mickey," as he was called by those who had become acquainted with him, came down from Cokeville with a companion named Dwyer last Wednesday. Dwyer says that they became acquainted only a few days ago and that "Mickey" came to this section well-laden with whisky. He remained in Kemmerer several days last week, posing as a cripple for the purpose of getting money. When the body was examined today by Coroner Embree, who held an inquest over it, it was discovered that the man was not a cripple, but had been using acid to make his arm look like it was maimed.

W. D. RITER HEAD OF BAR ASSOCIATION OF UTAH

The Utah Bar association held its annual convention Saturday afternoon and evening, at the Hermitage hotel in Ogden canyon, about seventy-five members being in attendance. The occasion was marked by able discussions of problems of moment relative to the legal profession in Utah, brilliant addresses and the election of officers for the coming year.

The officers elected were as follows:
President—W. D. Riter of Salt Lake.

Vice presidents—J. D. Call of First judicial district; J. A. Howell of the Second judicial district; N. L. Richey of the Third district; Jacob Coleman of the Fourth district; Joshua Greenwood of the Fifth district; Joseph H. Erickson of the Sixth district, and Albert H. Christensen of the Seventh district.

Treasurer—E. C. Ashton of Salt Lake.

Secretary—Harold Fabian of Salt Lake.

Executive council—Frank K. Nebeker of Salt Lake; O. W. Carlson of Salt Lake; C. A. Boyd of Ogden; S. W. Stewart of Salt Lake; R. E. Thatcher of Logan.

During the discussion of pertinent questions, the fact that there has been no compilation of the Utah statutes since 1907 was called to the attention of the assembly, and a resolution was adopted to request the next legislature to remedy this condition by ordering a recodification of the statutes. The discussion of legislation affecting civil procedure occupied considerable time of the meeting. It was declared that the bill fostered by the Bar association, which was vetoed by Governor Spry after it had been passed by the last legislature, would have changed judicial procedure in civil cases and its vital provisions again met the favor of the association. A full debate on the bill was prevented by lack of time and a resolution was finally adopted, referring the bill to a committee of nine members of the association, to be appointed by the president and executive committee. This committee is to re-draft the bill and report to the association at a special meeting to be held at least thirty days before the next legislative session.

The annual address of the retiring president Herbert R. McMillan, of Salt Lake, and an address by Frank Evans on "The Lawyer in Literature," held the close attention of the assembled bar. Mr. McMillan's talk contained an exposition of many legal matters that are to receive executive attention of state and national associations during the coming months.

Committee Named.
H. R. McMillan, C. A. Boyd and William Folland were named as a committee to consider ways and means to bring about closer harmony between state and national associations. The selection of delegates to the annual convention of the National Bar association, to be held in Chicago this month, and of delegates to the department of comparative law, was placed in the hands of the executive council.

The annual banquet of the association followed the meeting. Judge A. J. Howell of Ogden presided as master of ceremonies, and responses to toasts projected by him were made. The finely appointed menu was of the progressive, prohibition style and every course was thoroughly enjoyed.

This part of the day's program was featured with music by Walker's orchestra and the rendition of a number of baritone solos by Roland Reeves.

REV. J. E. CARVER SUNDAY SERMON

Rev. J. E. Carver, in his sermon last night, said:
"Two men I will honor, and no third," says Carlyle. "First the toll-worn craftsman that, with earth made implements, laboriously conquers the earth and makes her man's. Venerable to me is the hard hand. A second man I honor and more highly; him who is seen tolling for the spiritually indispensable; not daily bread, but the bread of life. If the poor and humble toll that we have food must not the high and glorious toll for him in return, that he have light, have guidance, freedom, immortality!"

These two, in all their degrees, I honor; all else is chaff and dust which let the wind blow where it listeth."

"Beautiful it is to understand and know that a thought did never yet die; that as the originator of it gathered it and created it from the whole past, so he will transmit it to the whole future. It is thus that the heroic heart and the seeing eye of the first times still sees and feels in us, in this, the latest era."

There is a passage in the gospel of Mark that should be read by every one who is disposed to think that life's lot is for them peculiarly a hard one. We are tempted to make excuses for our failures and mistakes by the thought that there was some reason over which we had no control that kept us from doing as others or as we desired. As long as we think that we have any excuse for every failing, defeat loses half its sting and aspiration is dulled. The father of the lad thought the failure of the disciples to heal his boy lay in the weakness of the disciples or in the inability of the Christ. The Christ said plainly that the sole trouble lay in the father and in his doubt. There is no
